

FORENSIC ACCOUNTING/LITIGATION SERVICES ASSOCIATE

Gould & Pakter Associates, LLC (G&P) is seeking an associate to perform forensic accounting, financial modelling, financial analysis, forensic accounting, lost profits and other economic damages, financial investigations, and analyses in litigated and arbitrated disputes.

The Associate's primary responsibilities will include:

- Managing, controlling, and reviewing documents produced during the course of investigations, valuations, and litigation proceedings;
- conducting research;
- assisting in expert report preparation;
- assisting in the creation of financial models and financial analyses;
- performing analytical review, financial statement analysis, forecasts, and projections;
- reviewing depositions, opposing expert witness expert reports, and financial reports;
- creating summaries and analyses of annual financial statements, bank, brokerage and credit card statements, and financial transactions; and
- supporting other forensic accounting and litigation services team members with selected projects, and related tasks.

G&P is seeking to engage an independent contractor to perform these services on a contractual basis. The services will be performed remotely and are expected to be a mutually agreed-upon number of hours per week. There is a potential for future part-time or full-time employment.

Required qualifications include a degree in accounting, finance, auditing, taxation, and/or related fields. Post-graduate and MBA preferred but not required. Strong financial, analytical, technical, and interpersonal skills are required, as well as experience and/or education in accounting, financial analysis, and financial modeling. Professional certifications in accounting, auditing, fraud, and tax certifications (such as CPA or equivalents) are beneficial in this role but are not required.

G&P:

- provides financial forensics, commercial litigation services, internal investigations, and financial analysis of disputes;
- calculates economic damages, lost profits/earnings, business interruption claims, and earn-outs;
- values closely held businesses for shareholder litigation, family law services, bankruptcy and business litigation, and estate and gift tax compliance;
- traces undisclosed assets, analyzing financial transactions/balances, determining sources of funds used to acquire assets, and reconstructing falsified/incomplete financial information; and
- maintains membership in the Private Companies Practice Section and the Forensic and Valuation Services Section of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

www.litcpa.com

Interested parties should contact Michael at gnp@litcpa.com